About the artwork

Acrylic and gold leaf on canvas. The work operates through a deliberate accumulation of layers — acrylic grounds built up in successive passes, interrupted and revealed by the application of gold leaf. The geometric structure, characteristic of MMHC's Intuitive Geometry language, anchors the composition while areas of free gesture open up beneath and between the forms. Light behaves differently across the surface depending on the hour and the viewer's position, activating the metallic passages against the matte acrylic planes. The layering creates a quiet tension between depth and surface, between what is concealed and what is offered.
