About the artwork

Rise Désir I – Terre de Feu, a sculptural stoneware vessel shaped with an upward sense of movement, as if the clay is rising, opening, and releasing its energy through the edges. Its Terre de Feu body carries warm earthen depth, while the darker hand-glazed edges create an expressive, almost painting-like effect that follows the rhythm of the form.

Each curve, fold, and textured line is crafted by hand, making every angle unique — a piece suspended between strength, softness, and desire.

One of the signature works from the Rise collection. Currently under consideration for upcoming exhibitions. Please inquire for availability.
