About the artwork

The work flows with the luminous pulse of origin. Poured colors of red, pink, and fleshy tones sweep across unprimed canvas, moving like liquid life, while strong red waves crest across the surface, signaling intensity, vitality, and energy. At the center, a shredded fabric circle emerges, its edges glimmering with gold, while the core shines super-white—an embodiment of radiant origin, divine light, and the precious essence of womanhood. The circle is at once womb, sun, and luminous core, holding the series' energy in a moment of stillness and brilliance. The piece evokes the flow of life, love, and memory, capturing how woman emerges as a source of luminous energy, from which connection, care, and devotion radiate. Here, color, texture, and form converge to speak of creation, resilience, and the sacred force that threads through all the works in the series.
