About the artwork

The photograph was taken in Al Mureijah, Sharjah, United Arab Emirates, and is part of the Observations body of work. Available in five sizes, each with its own limited edition.

Observations is an ongoing body of photographic work that explores the quiet relationships between perception, light, texture, time, and space. Created across different parts of the world, each image is connected by a way of seeing rather than a specific destination.

These photographs emerge from acts of observation shaped by attentive listening—to subtle internal whispers that surface as sounds, feelings, smells, memories, or fleeting thoughts. Each encounter becomes both instinctive and reflective, with the camera serving as a tool for sensing as much as documenting.

The work celebrates the quiet beauty of forms, textures, spaces, and fleeting encounters through light, shadow, colour, and atmosphere. Shifting light, textured surfaces, and natural as well as artificial illumination become emotional markers, transforming ordinary scenes into moments of curiosity and discovery. Rather than presenting its subjects as fixed realities, the photographs approach them as emotional landscapes shaped by experience, movement, and memory.

Balancing intuition with documentation, the images focus on quiet gestures, traces of presence, and subtle shifts in mood. Together, they form a visual language that moves between intimacy and distance, revealing how the world around us can echo internal states.

Through this process, photography becomes a way of navigating presence and transformation. Moments of ambiguity, stillness, and sensory intensity unfold naturally within the frame, celebrating the beauty found in both the extraordinary and the everyday. In an increasingly accelerated world, these moments of slowing down become a quiet act of celebration.
