About the artwork

Rise Écho I - Mistral is part of the Rise Collection, a series exploring movement captured in a moment of stillness. The form rises from the base and gradually curves back toward itself, creating a more contained and introspective movement than other pieces in the collection.

Handbuilt in stoneware, the sculpture combines soft satin surfaces with subtle glass-like glaze effects and touches of gold along the rim. The contrast between the flowing form and the quiet palette highlights the sense of movement held in place. A movement that turns back toward itself.
